

Who Cares?

Where now for women offender services?

Louise Clark

Local Development Officer, Clinks

Supporting voluntary organisations that work with offenders and their families

CLINKS

Women are phoning and saying:
“I haven’t eaten for two days, can you help me?”

Supporting voluntary organisations that work with offenders and their families

CLINKS

“It’s about the woman’s right to get as many services that are women-focused, rather than being at the tail-end of something that has been developed for a man”.

Supporting voluntary organisations that work with offenders and their families

CLINKS

“The partnership we have with our Probation Trust is a really strong one. They’re great at communicating with us. They’ve really been very good at promoting the service”.

Supporting voluntary organisations that work with offenders and their families

CLiNKs

“It’s a critical time for women offender services and their service users”.

Supporting voluntary organisations that work with offenders and their families

CLiNKs

Tavis House,
1-6 Tavistock Square
London
WC1H 9NA

Louise Clark
Louise.clark@clinks.org
07870 384569
www.clinks.org

@Clinks_Tweets